SURVEY BEGINS—The State Highway Department has begun its survey of Highway 603 in preparation for a four-laning project. Local officials met with Southern District Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner Wednesday at a conference where plans for the project were announced. Looking at aerial photograph maps of the highway at a site near Old Nicholson Road are Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr., Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, Beat Five Supervisor James Travis, Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Keller, Joiner and Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicliaro. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Water system or welfare building?

County asked to reconsider grant application choice

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has been asked to reconsider the decision on which of two Community Development Block Grant applications should have priority.

The board had been informed in late February that the county could apply for only one CDBG per year and would have to choose between a new building for the county welfare department and a water system for the Catahoula and Steep Hollow communities.

According to Kathy Moon of Gulf Regional Planning Commission, obtaining a grant is based on a competitive process.

In addition to limitations on the number of grants that may be received each year, any county with a grant-funded project still in progress must have spent a specific percentage of the money allocated before applying for more funding, Moon said.

The Catahoula-Steep Hollow project, a proposed water system, has been the targeted outcome of CDBG applications twice before. The applications were joint efforts of Hancock and Pearl River counties because the system will cross the county line.

BURNELL SMITH

Last year, the project was turned down because Pearl River County had not yet spent enough of a CDBG obtained for a new county services building, used mostly for the county welfare department.

Because the board had expected to sell the Hancock General Hospital building and the need for a new welfare department building has increased due to deterioration of the department's present quarters, the board had decided to seek a CDBG for that project rather than the water system, Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicliaro said.

Board President and Beat Two Supervisor A.A. Keller had said that he did not oppose a new welfare building, but voted against the rest of the board because his district includes Catahoula.

On Monday, Steep Hollow resident Burnell Smith addressed the board, asking to have the decision changed.

Smith explained that the residents of the two communities had been working together for years to get the system, which is expected to provide water for 1,200 people.

3 arrested for theft of roadway signs

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Three area college students have been charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of several roadway signs.

Thomas M. Walton, 19, and Joel B. Salisbury, 20, both of Diamondhead and John S. Phelps, 19, of Waveland were arrested Tuesday.

Each of the subjects is charged with seven counts of grand larceny. Police Chief Ray Murphy said the signs were spotted in Phelps' car by Waveland Police Officer Michael Prendergast who notified Bay authorities.

Murphy also said the three subjects admitted to taking the signs during questioning.

"We will be prosecuting anyone caught stealing or defacing a roadway sign," he added.

The three have been released from the Hancock County Jail on a $1,000 bond each.

SHOOTING

In an unrelated incident, a Slidell man was charged with aggravated assault on Tuesday.

Police arrested Michael J. Thomas, 24, of Slidell, La. for allegedly shooting several shots into a crowded area near the Washington Street Park.

According to Murphy, Thomas was involved in a fight at the park and then went to his car and took out a .38 caliber pistol and began shooting.

There were probably a couple of hundred people standing around in

Highway 603 survey begins for four-laning project

BY DENA BISNETTE

Surveying has started in preparation for four-laning Highway 603 in Hancock County.

Southern District Highway Commissioner Bob Joiner visited Hancock County Wednesday afternoon to discuss the matter with the board of supervisors and interested citizens to announce his plans for the road.

Joiner also said new traffic counts are being taken on 603 and have so far indicated more than 5,000 cars use the highway during any 24-hour period.

During the 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. periods when the traffic is most concentrated, the highway is handling a volume above the capacity it was designed to handle, the commissioner added.

At present, the four-laning project calls for two phases, the first of which will four-lane the road between US-90 and Interstate 10 and the second phase will extend the four-laning to some point in Kiln, Joiner said.

The commissioner said federal matching funds are available for use on the project.

The highway commissioner stated he hopes the four-laning can extend as far as Highway 43 and added that he will consider a Kiln resident's request for a turning bay to reduce hazards at that junction until the four-laning project is completed.

Finishing both phases could take as much as three years, Joiner said. First, three possible lines for the road will be surveyed and presented to the Federal Highway Commission for approval.

A public hearing will follow to gain local input regarding the selected location.

A second hearing will be set after a design for the project is approved.

"The public will be involved in every stage of this," Joiner explained.

He said the next stage of the project will involve obtaining rights-of-way and assisting with any necessary relocations of homes or businesses. A temporary relocation office will be set up locally to help with the process.

The project will include new bridges at Bayou LaCroix and the Jourdan River, Joiner added.

"This is the first tangible evidence we have that we are moving on this," the commissioner said of the survey.

He explained that maintenance on the road will continue in the interim between the survey and actual completion of the project.

"The things you are talking about here can not wait three years," Joiner said.

Areas of concern include the road shoulders, which need repair and widening, and reduction of the accident rate, which Joiner says he believes averages 3.2 fatalities per year.

Other items being eyed for the project include straightening some of the highway's curves and trying to alleviate some traffic problems at a blind curve just above the Kiln caution light.

The commissioner said he is not able to speculate whether 603 will

Authorities still seeking identity of car fire victim

BY DENA BISNETTE

Authorities are still attempting to verify the identity of a man found dead Tuesday in a burning car parked in the emergency lane of east-bound Interstate 10.

According to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson, the 1980 BMW with an Escambia County, Fla., tag was spotted at about 6:30 a.m. about a mile west of the Kiln exit by a passing motorist, who reported the incident from a nearby truck scales station.

Diamondhead Fire Department and Rescue Unit responded and put out the blaze.

The fire victim was burned beyond recognition, but was determined to be an adult male, Peterson said.

Hancock County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh stated the fire's main concentration of heat was in the front seat area. He is still trying to determine the cause of the blaze.

There was no indication the vehicle had been involved in an accident, the sheriff said.

Items in the trunk that were not destroyed by the fire included a suitcase and identification belonging to a male Nigerian citizen.

Peterson said the name on a passport and other items found is not being released until authorities can determine whether the identification actually belonged to the dead man.

The victim was found on the back seat. County Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet said late Wednesday he was still awaiting results of a Wednesday morning autopsy.

Peterson said it appears at this time there was no foul play connected with the death.

The case is being headed by Hancock County Criminal Investigator Glen Strong and Investigator Robert Underwood of the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

Waveland man fatally injured in I-10 accident near Slidell

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday in Picaune for a Waveland man killed in a Slidell traffic accident Sunday.

An Indiana woman also died Sunday morning after they were thrown from a small truck that flipped over several times on Interstate 10 near Slidell.

Kenneth R. Ladner, 34, of Waveland and Terry Wilson, 28, of Jeffersonville, Ind., were killed.

The 6 a.m. accident occurred four miles east of the interchange with I-12 and I-59, State Police said.

Neither was wearing a seat belt and both were ejected from the Chevrolet Blazer. Ladner was driving, the spokesman said.

The truck was eastbound when Ladner apparently fell asleep, and it veered first to the right shoulder and then left, across both lanes.

Ladner then pulled the steering wheel too sharply to the right, causing the Blazer to roll over several times, the spokesman said. The accident is under investigation, police said.

Ladner was taken to North Shore Regional Medical Center in Slidell where he died at 8:48 a.m. while undergoing surgery.

Wilson, employed by Humana Hospital in Louisville, Ky., was dead on arrival at Slidell Memorial Hospital.

The Blazer was registered to the Mike Witte Chevrolet dealership in Bay St. Louis, where Ladner was a salesman, the State Police spokesman said.

Gulfport hospital offers introduction session on 'Smokeless' program

Memorial Hospital at Gulfport will conduct a free introductory session on Smokeless, its five-day stop smoking program at 7 p.m. Thursday at the hospital.

Choosing from a wide variety of techniques, both positive and negative, to handle cigarette urges creates new mental associations.

These newly developed associations make quitting more comfortable.

The Smokeless System offers smokers an opportunity to quit smoking and to remain off cigarettes for good.

Dr. Don R. Powell, developer of Smokeless, developed and implemented this behavior change approach to smoking cessation.

The success rate for Smokeless is two to three times that of other programs. The program is so effective that the 1983 Surgeon General's Report on Smoking and Health called it "a particularly successful" stop smoking program.

Quitting smoking is only the tip of the iceberg. Many ex-smokers slip back into the habit after months or even years of not smoking.

Smokeless is designed to prevent recidivism—the tendency for people to go back to cigarettes. Stress management, new eating behaviors, changing beliefs about smoking, understanding the environment, assertiveness training, and positive and negative reinforcement are all components of the Smokeless program.

Mary Ann Preston, director of employee health at Memorial, says, "A smoker no longer has to rely on willpower to resist a cigarette when specific techniques that prevent and eliminate cigarette urges are taught. Research has also shown that the accompanying problems of weight gain and irritability are prevented or reduced through the Smokeless System."

Memorial Hospital is committed to enabling smokers to quit and, in this regard, offers a guarantee. If any graduate of Smokeless should ever go back to smoking or simply wants to reinforce non-smoking behavior, they can re-attend the program at no additional charge.

"The Smokeless approach to smoking cessation is an effective, viable alternative for people who are tired of having cigarettes control their lives. Quitting smoking has great value," Preston adds.

"It's an investment that pays health and happiness dividends for life."

"We've been trying to get this thing for five years," Smith explained.

"I'm afraid that if we wait for another year, the people who contributed their $25 to get our efforts started will want the money back," he added.

He said the two communities already have a volunteer fire department, which is being reorganized.

"We want to set up our own water and fire protection district," Smith explained.

The project must be a joint effort of Hancock County and Pearl River County because Catahoula could not provide enough users to qualify for the water system without Sleep Hollow being included.

Smith asked the board to advertise for a consultant, an engineer and an architect in case the supervisors change their decision to pursue a grant for the welfare department or find some way to pursue the water system CDBG as well.

Moon, however, said it is presently necessary to advertise only for the consultant, and the board agreed to do so.

In the past, that consultant has been Harvey Nixon of Picayune.

Welfare Department Director Wallace Bradley said he still wants a new building more than the Hancock General Hospital building.

"There is no question I and my staff want a new building...maintenance of the old hospital is going to end up, in the long run and the short run, costing the county more than it's worth," Bradley said.

Moon said the deteriorated condition of the existing welfare building, a former creamery on Nécalse Avenue believed to have been constructed in the early 1900s, makes the possibility of obtaining a CDBG for a new building "the best we'll ever have."

"I'd rather stay in our old building than move to the hospital. I think I stand a better chance of a grant where I'm at," Bradley said.

After approving the advertisement for consultant, the board agreed to take the matter of the grants under advisement until the March 13 meeting.

The board is still faced with the problem of what to do with Hancock General Hospital.

The supervisors plan to ask both Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Bay St. Louis Police Department to patrol the area to guard the building from break-ins and vandalism.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travira, placed in charge of the building's maintenance, voted against that proposal.

He contends that a security guard should be stationed at the hospital because patrols will not provide enough protection.

The board also decided to advertise for resale of the hospital. The county originally advertised the hospital for sale in the Sea Coast Echo and Sun-Daily Herald, but plans additional advertisements in the Jackson Clarion-Ledger, Hattiesburg American and New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Kellar said the building is sound but needs about $80,000 in roof repairs.

The board had originally eyed the possibility of putting three county agencies, including the Welfare Department, Hancock County Child Development Center and Hancock County Senior Citizens.

Beth Favre, who heads the child development center, said she feels that her program could use the hospital. The center is presently located in leased space in a building now up for sale.

Eve McDonald, in charge of the senior citizens programs, said she is happy with her present quarters in the old Valena C. Jones School, which belongs to the City of Bay St. Louis and is provided along with utilities and other services as an in-kind contribution to the programs.

There has been no action on an offer to the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District that would have allowed the district to purchase the building for $300,000.

The school board took the matter under advisement last week.

The March 13 meeting begins at 9 a.m. in the upstairs boardroom of the Hancock County Courthouse.

In Hancock County over the past two years some 28 residents have been trained to read through the efforts of a dozen Laubach-trained tutors.

The efforts of Hancock County's Adult Literacy Education program (ALITE) is able to operate through support from several local organizations.

There is a need for many more volunteer tutors, and a special workshop will be held at the Bay St. Louis Library on Friday evening and Saturday morning. These volunteers will join others in helping more area adults how to read.

A volunteer needs only to spend an hour a couple of nights a week working one to one using Laubach materials.

It is not necessary for a volunteer to have a college degree to be of assistance to our county in this program.

Further information can be obtained by calling the Bay St. Louis Library at 467-5282 or Helene Roth, area literacy coordinator, evenings at 467-1891.

Have you ever noticed how the price of gasoline at the pump seems to move whenever the price of oil is increased or decreased on the world market?

It seems to us, if the price of oil goes down it takes a good while before the price will drop at the gas pumps and then only a cent or two. On the other hand, if the price of oil increases, it seems the same day the announcement is made, gas prices jump at the pumps as much as ten cents.

We sure have had some beautiful weather for the final three days of the Mardi Gras season.

In all the years I have viewed the Pass Christian Mardi Gras parade, I have never seen as many people as I did last Sunday.

The crowd at St. Paul's Pass Christian parade was as deep along the route as many in the city of New Orleans.

It was a beautiful day weatherwise, and it seems everyone had been locked up inside because of the continuous rains and people were happy to be outside.

The krewes of Real People and Triton were also fortunate to have beautiful clear sunshine when they rolled.

The routes of both of these krewes also had large crowds viewing the parades.

Mardi Gras is behind us now and parades. Well, we still have good old St. Patrick's Day coming up in Waveland in a few weeks.

See you at the parade.

Something new for Buccaneer State Park will be an Arts & Crafts Festival scheduled for April 25.

Only handmade items will be accepted and all local craftsmen are invited to attend. There will be an entry fee of $5.

Greg Smith, park manager, said he is hoping many local people will attend this festival.

It will be held under Pavilion III under the shade trees of Buccaneer State Park.

Those displaying items will have to provide their own tables.

Persons interested can receive further information by calling 467-3822.

Legislative Update

By Ellen Ann Fentress

The door shut on a 1987 state tax increase at the Mississippi Legislature last week, but while the door slammed on money-desperate universities and state agencies, a massive highway construction plan survived for another week.

The chance is slim for more state revenue in 1987 through a tax increase after the House rejected both a $104 million and $90 million plan to increase income taxes.

The $104 million plan was rejected Thursday 62-53, seven votes short of the necessary three-fifths passage margin for a money bill. Then supporters of a tax increase decreased the income tax boost by about $14 million the following day, but the slightly smaller tax package still failed to win approval, its 64-50 tally four votes shy of the three-fifths margin.

Supporters of the tax bill believe the extra money is necessary to boost funding to state agencies and universities, whose austere budgets last year forced the firings of several thousand employees.

But tax opponents warned the election-year tax increase would be suicide for legislators and berated university leaders for lobbying in favor of a tax increase.

The House vote was considered the key tax vote of the session, since the Senate has left any tax increase votes up to the House this year. The Senate has approved higher state taxes for the past several years and then watched its proposals die in the other chamber.

The death of the income tax plan came on the heels of the demise of a proposal to increase the state sales tax rate from 6 to 7 percent. The proposal never went beyond a subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee, which rejected the higher tax 4-0.

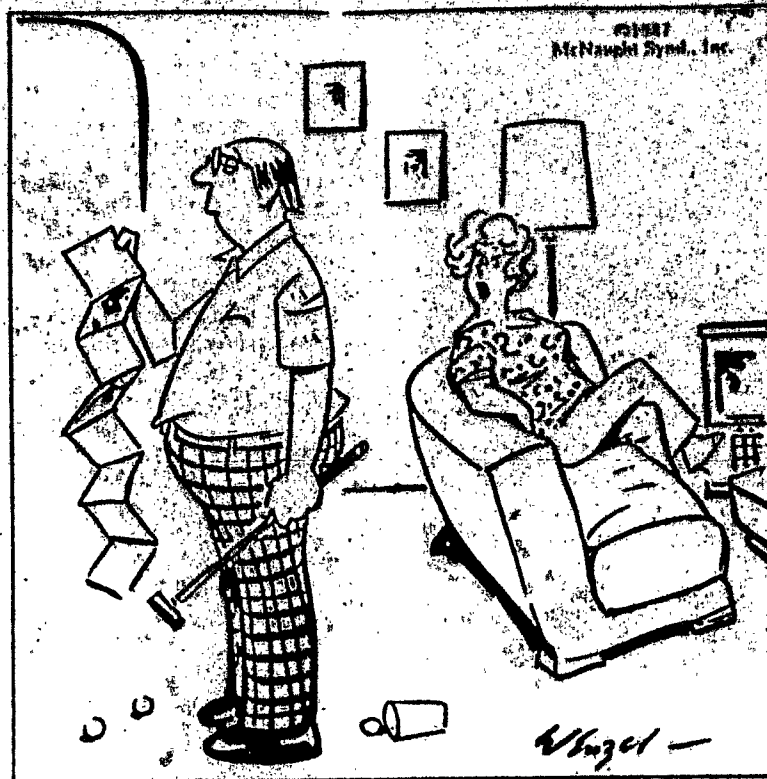

The House shot down the income tax hike on the day after tax-opponent Gov. Bill Allain predicted that the state would be $43 million ahead of budget expectations for the 1987 and 1988 fiscal years.

Tax supporters complained of Allain's timing of the announcement—within hours of the House vote.

Some legislative leaders were less confident of the surplus than Allain and warned that windfall money should not be treated like state revenues recurring each year.

While last week dimmed chances of a general tax increase, the door remained open to passage of a

Eyes on Mississippi

By Bill Minor

JACKSON—When Mike Moore, at age 27 became district attorney in Jackson County back in 1980, he was told his first ritual was to pay homage to perennially powerful County Supervisor Eddie Khayat and hear the famous "talk."

Moore went, sat down and listened. Khayat proceeded to relate that in Jackson County politicians "operate as a family. We can help you, and from time to time, you can help us."

Before the "talk" went any further, a brash new county official stood up, excused himself and walked out. In a masterful understatement, Moore told me the other day: "Mr. Khayat and I never saw eye to eye after that."

Khayat was known for almost two decades as the leading spokesman for county supervisors statewide, certainly the most visible and aggressive county official in Mississippi, and salesman par excellence for his area.

His shiny armor, however, had become tarnished in 1974 when the federal government indicted him for failing to pay income taxes on some $300,000 income. He took a guilty plea, with no jail time. Under Mississippi's gothic law, he was allowed to stay in office.

Not long after taking office, Moore found Khayat and other supervisors were misappropriating county funds, and he went after Khayat criminally. It was as though Moore was prosecuting Robin Hood, maybe Eddie had done some wrong, but look at all the good he had done.

That's the way the jury viewed it, and Khayat won acquittal. But the dogged Moore tried again on a different charge, this time getting a 9-3 hung jury. Finally when Khayat realized the young DA wouldn't give up, the supervisor plea bargained on a misdemeanor charge and resigned from office.

Meantime, Moore convicted veteran supervisor Lum Cumbest, and got plea bargain resignations from two other supervisors. Here is an example of how Moore's good government crusade benefitted taxpayers: Before he began digging, the county was spending $1 million a year on shells and $600,000 on equipment rental. Next year, the county was buying only $40,000 in shells and spending only $13,000 on renting equipment.

No other DA in memory of this writer over the last three decades had ever shaken the local courthouse crowd as had Moore. As a consequence, the word was out in county politics that Mike Moore was going to be a "one-term DA." What happened? He ran for re-election in 1983 and got 83 percent of the vote.

Now he's looking for bigger game. Last week, the 34-year-old, feisty Pascagoula became the first candidate to declare for state attorney general in the August Democratic primary, not knowing if the incumbent, Atty. General Ed Pittman, is going to seek re-election or not.

Youth group continues Clermont cleanup

To the Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,
Clermont Harbor Youth Corps has done it again—showing the 'power of youth' by collecting 37 bags of litter. Their Saturday run was a typical example of their determination to live cleaner and share in work and fellowship.

Bruce and Ina Crammer and Mary Bobbitt supervised the group on this run.

The residents of Clermont and visitors are seeing the community improvement and their support is picking up.

We are starting to impress some of our skeptics.

All the people I've talked to agreed from the beginning that action was desperately needed, but now that they see it is actually working, that improvement is very obvious, people are getting excited.

The youth of Clermont Harbor are great kids. They needed a plan, a little supervision and a reward system.

Somehow it's paying off, I'm glad.

Sincerely,
Ina Crammer

Plaintiff takes issue with Mayor's assessment of suit as frivolous

March 1, 1987

Dear Editor:

Whew!—Boyl!—Talk about kicking a man when he's down! Mayor Frankiewicz deserves a commendation!

The recent summary judgment issued in the lawsuit against Bay St. Louis comes as no surprise to me!

However, I fail to see any humor in the mayor's rhetorical comments in which he claims to "aggressively defend frivolous lawsuits so the city is not made the target of nuisance suits in the future."

This letter is a partial rebuttal in response to the printed statements of the March 1 edition of The Sea Coast Echo.

I would like to address point for point each printed statement from that issue.

1. The printed statement "A NCIC report stated Dale Edward Anderson alias Nick Donnell, a white male with the same birthdate and social security number as the plaintiff" etc., etc., failed to address the fact that the NCIC report did not contain any similar social security number in any entry, other than the last line which clearly stated "NO NCIC WANT, SOCIAL SECURITY NO. (MINE)."

2. During these entire proceedings after the arrest, and sometime before the lawsuit was filed, the arresting officer did make a statement to this writer personally, in which he advised this writer that someone told him "they had a real bad dude who needed to be picked up, arrested and harassed."

However, this fact was never mentioned in print during these proceedings.

3. The "wanted" Anderson had an alias of "Nick Donnell"; true, but the public has been misled here, because the "wanted" Anderson used a number of aliases; 14 to be more precise.

4. Officer Butler did in fact go to the Andersons' residence. With his hand on his service revolver he did advise Mr. Anderson to get into the patrol car, and when Officer Butler was asked if he had a warrant, he replied "Yes!"

Given these circumstances only a fool would refuse to go with the officers. Refusal could have brought charges of resisting arrest, and who knows what else?

However, "consent" in this instance was totally misinterpreted, as expected!

5. As stated, "the plaintiff was released into his attorney's custody after being questioned about the contents of the NCIC report." However, no mention was made of the fact that the plaintiff was also fingerprinted, photographed (mugshot), handwritten sample taken, and that the plaintiff was advised that he was in big trouble, to contact his attorney.

When his attorney arrived, a bond was discussed, and then when the plaintiff indicated he had no money to make bond, it was decided that the plaintiff could be released into his attorney's custody.

These proceedings normally are taken care of at the Hancock County jail, not in the arresting officer's office.

6. "Butler later determined the plaintiff was not the same Anderson and reported to his attorney that Michael Anderson had been cleared of any charges."

This is all true, but again all the facts were not made available to the judge, nor to the mayor.

With the same information which was in possession of the Bay St. Louis Police Department, a local state trooper at the plaintiff's request obtained the NCIC printout.

With one question this trooper managed to clear the plaintiff within 15 minutes of the trooper's receipt of the same NCIC printout.

This trooper managed to accomplish all of this in 15 minutes without making an arrest, and without all the embarrassment that was required by the Bay St. Louis Police Department!

Isn't it amazing what a little experience will accomplish?

Technically this lawsuit was lost by the plaintiff, however, it wasn't because of the lack of sufficient grounds. There still seems to be several unanswered questions concerning this matter!

7. Judge Mitchell, in his ruling, stated that "there is no question that Officer Butler had probable cause to bring the plaintiff to the station for further investigation" if the social security numbers matched.

However, it was not addressed in Sunday's issue of The Sea Coast Echo, the fact that an arrest was made instead of an investigation being made.

Had the investigation been made before the arrest, a lawsuit of this nature may have been avoided!

It was made clear that this plaintiff was employed and lived in this city and "it wasn't likely that the plaintiff would have left the city 'on the lamb!'"

Since our good mayor has such great elation over these proceedings and findings, and has seen fit to respond so eloquently in a public manner, perhaps he could be so kind as to respond to a few more unanswered questions!

1. Throughout these proceedings no mention was made of the arrest records concerning this matter.

I'm sure the public would marvel at the fact that no one knows where the arrest records are.

Perhaps the mayor could let us know where these records are, or what happened to them!

2. How is it that the state police could make such an accomplishment in such a short time, when the prior administration's police department held the plaintiff under bond for a whole week?

3. Finally, it was apparent that the mayor clearly inherited this lawsuit, which was definitely directed at the prior administration.

Would the mayor have been so publicly eloquent in his final assessment had the plaintiff won his suit?

By the way, allow me to introduce myself. My name is Donald Michael Anderson, a Bonafide Vietnam veteran, who defended his country and the Constitution of the United States of America.

I am also a resident and paying citizen of Bay St. Louis.

The majority of my income is spent right here in Bay St. Louis. I am also a registered voter in this city, and I used to be proud to live in this city!

Perhaps if I had $100,000 and needlessly I would have won this lawsuit!

Instead I've been labeled a nuisance and a nuisance, according to Sunday's Sea Coast Echo, I'm glad I served for Mayor Frankiewicz. We need many more officials like him!

Thank you
(Donald Michael Anderson)

THE HOME OF JACK AND BETTY ANNE GORDON, 410 North Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis will be open from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursday, April 2 for the 44th annual Bay-Waveland Spring Pilgrimage. Cheerful and bold describes the colors used in their home. The floral print used on winged chairs is repeated at windows in living and dining rooms and served as the inspiration for the colors used on the walls and the rest of the furniture. Wicker furniture from the rear porch is repeated in other rooms as accent pieces. Little Theatre production to run Friday, Saturday

The final production of the 1966-67 season of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will be "After Hours," a musical review directed by Lady Carver, scheduled to be performed at the Boardman Avenue Theatre on Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9.

Written by Lady Carver and Sherry Schwabacher, "After Hours" is the story of the friendship between four very different women who meet for their annual reunion at Norma's, a comfortable neighborhood bar.

Starring Daphne Collins, Alma Flick, Claudia Murphy and Sherry Schwabacher as the four old friends. "After Hours" also features the multi-talented Joseph Cotton as the piano player at Norma's.

This will be the final show for which 1966 season tickets will be honored. Season tickets for the 1967-68 season will be available at the door at both performances.

The first production of the upcoming season will be Neil Simon's "Chapter Two."

massive highway four-laning program.

The Senate passed 35-16 a new compromise highway plan that leaders of both the House and Senate hope will float in both chambers. The Senate has been more receptive to the $1.5 billion highway plan than the House, which barely passed an earlier version of its own.

The compromise plan would increase the state gasoline tax by 3.8 cents per gallon.

The plan includes:

—replacing the 8 percent sales tax on motor fuels with a 5.4 cent per gallon excise tax;

—raising the per-gallon excise tax by 8 cents in July, another 2 cents in January 1968 and another cent in 1969;

—diverting $33-$35 million annually in federal highway construction funds to the program;

—taxing highway builders who are awarded contracts, raising $2.5 million annually;

—using former debt service funds freed by refinancing old highway bonds and —authorizing short-term bond issues of up to $50 million.

The new highway measure still faces House approval.

HOUSE

HB 1211 would have increased state income taxes by $90 million, a revenue boost that state university officials and other state agency heads had sought. It failed to gather the necessary three-fifths passage margin required for money bills by five votes, falling 64-60.

Phillips, Yes; Holston, Nay.

HB 1211, Amendment 1, decreased the proposed tax package from an estimated $104 million increase to about $90 million by raising tax rates only not lowering brackets as well. The amendment passed 72-41 before the entire bill failed.

Phillips, Yes; Holston, Nay.

HB 1211 would have raised $104 million in income taxes when first brought to a vote on Thursday. The original bill failed 62-43. The three-fifths passage margin needed for a revenue bill was 60.

Phillips, Yes; Holston, Nay.

HB 1243, Amendment 1, voted against beginning to plan for closing three state charity hospitals: Kuhn Memorial in Vicksburg, Matty Hersee in Meridian and South Mississippi State Hospital in Laurel. The vote of reprieve came 73-39.

Phillips, Nay; Holston, Yes.

HB 806 would have authorized local funding for the Shoccoe dam, a proposed solution to Pearl River flooding in central Mississippi. The House rejected the measure 54-67, which opponents believe will ease metropolitan Jackson's flooding at the expense of central Mississippians upriver.

Phillips, Yes; Holston, Nay.

HB 806, Amendment 1, authorized a veto of the dam if three participating counties object. The veto measure passed 58-50.

Phillips, Nay; Holston, Yes.

SENATE

HB 1206 is a new compromise version of a statewide highway construction plan worked out by an unofficial panel of House and Senate leaders hoping to map out a plan acceptable in both chambers. The new version, calling for a 3.6 cent per gallon gas tax hike, still must win House approval. The measure won Senate approval 35-16.

Gene Taylor, Nay; Martin Smith, Yes.

SB 2407 would have authorized cities and counties that are home to state universities or university branches to levy property taxes to support projects at the universities. The bill was rejected 22-25 after opponents complained that the measure would force local communities to take on the state's duty to support its universities.

The Power of Comparative Shopping

Shopping for a new electric appliance? If so, your member-owned Electric Power Association has a suggestion. While you're comparing features and sizes and colors, be sure to compare Energy Efficiency Ratings, too. True, you may have to pay a bit more for an energy-efficient model, but the savings on your monthly electric bill will more than make up the difference. And when it comes to spending more or less for energy, there's no comparison.

County road and bridge fund depleted too early in fiscal year, board says

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has transferred money from seawall funds into a diminishing road and bridge account.

According to Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise, $100,000 taken from seawall tax revenues will be placed in road and bridge, which Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar lamented as having "not nearly as much left in it as we should have at this point in the year."

Necaise explained that the transfer is only temporary and must, by law, be repaid by September. Such a transfer can not be carried over into the next fiscal year, which starts in October.

The board approved the transfer Monday, with Kellar saying "reluctantly" before casting his vote.

The board president said the transfer has to be used to pay this month's docket and provide funds for the March payroll.

Kellar blamed the need for the transfer on the unit system, and Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner said he has consistently warned County Road Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson about the amount of road and bridge money being spent.

"As long as I have been supervisor, this is the first time we have had to transfer into road and bridge," Kellar said. He has been a supervisor more than 20 years.

"I knew this mess wouldn't work. We're broke now."

"I wish some of those people who advocated the unit system would make a recommendation on what we should do when we run out of money," the supervisor added.

Kellar defended Johnson, who had left the meeting before the transfer was made but returned later to participate in some of the discussion.

"If you had the best qualified person in the world, and Bill Johnson is well qualified, you still could not save any money on the county unit system," the board president contended.

"The people have been sold a bill of goods. I've said so before. I've been saying it all along."

Johnson himself said that it is too early for him to comment on whether the unit system, which began in October, will be able to save the county any money.

"The only comment I have is, if you get $1 worth of service under the unit system or $1 worth under the beat system, it's still going to cost you $1," stated Ladner.

In efforts to save money, the board voted Monday to reassign two road and bridge employees to the beach maintenance crew. Those two salaries will now come out of seawall funds rather than road and bridge funds.

The board had previously transferred part of the road and bridge payroll into bridge maintenance, but has since gone back to road and bridge, Johnson said.

Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge said the county has an average of about $66,000 left to spend each month, but that amount does not include enough to repay the fund transfer as well as payroll and operating expenses.

Without accounting for the men transferred Monday, Courge estimated payroll alone as being about $62,000.

After the transfer and without allowing the employees to do indoor maintenance work on rainy days, the supervisor said the payroll would still amount to more than $40,000.

Ladner suggested the possibility of a four-day work week when rain days can not be subtracted from the current five-day week, but the board decided to take the matter under advisement until its March 13 meeting.

"If you don't (go to a four-day week), you're going to have to shut down the last two months of the year and do nothing," Ladner contended.

Reducing the crew through attrition may help solve some of the problem and so far the only employees who have been replaced are two foremen, Kellar said.

Ladner stated that he had been warning Johnson about overspending each month since the unit system began.

Johnson has stated that much of that spending was targeted at repairing equipment broken down when the unit system began.

Now that the new county maintenance barn at Kiln has been completed, the county should see some savings because much of the equipment repair can now be handled on an in-house basis, Johnson added.

According to County Comptroller Ken Walker, the original road and bridge budget was $915,000, with an average of $76,000 available for spending each month. About $50,000 of that $76,000 was for payroll.

Spending not including payroll was $190,000 in October, $115,000 in November, $97,000 in December, $86,000 in January and $58,000 in February.

In addition, about $220,000 of $240,000 in carryover that was supposed to be returned to the individual beats has already been spent, according to Walker.

Pernicaro said he is going to have problems with losing the carryover, particularly in Mel Ott Subdivision, an area on Longfellow Road where he had planned to pave the streets.

He explained that the residents of the area had originally asked to be annexed into the city of Waveland, then withdrew the request.

"Withdrawing the request was contingent on the road work. I don't know what they'll do now," Pernicaro said.

In other business Monday, the supervisors:

—Approved travel for two members of the county election commission to attend a conference in Natchez; and —Heard a report from Attorney Gerald Gex on efforts to obtain a state attorney general's opinion on a proposal to enlarge a voting precinct at Standard;

The board meets again at 9 a.m. March 13.

CHECKING FOR DAMAGE—Ray St. Louis resident Wesley L. Labat checks his Ford Bronco for damage Tuesday afternoon after the vehicle has been towed out of a ditch alongside Easterbrook Street across from the Easterbrook Street Apartments. Labat stated an oncoming vehicle forced him off the road's shoulder, partially immersing the passenger side of the Bronco in water and mud left after sewerage and water pipes were installed recently. Ray St. Louis Mayor Victor J. Frankiewicz Jr. said city workers have had to wait for dry weather before repairing the road shoulders. A warning sign was placed on the end of the ditch closest to US-90 after a previous vehicle ran off the road, but the other has not been marked due to a shortage of warning signs resulting from recent thefts, the mayor said. SAINT AUGUSTINE'S SEMINARY

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI 39520

(601) 467-6414

Dear Friends,

After a long period of deliberation, we at St. Augustine Seminary have decided that the large, three-story building facing Ulman Avenue will be removed. This is a painful decision since part of this structure was the first permanent building on our Campus. Changes in the various programs at the Seminary and the prohibitive costs of maintenance and renovation left us with no other feasible alternative.

At one time our Seminary and indeed most Seminaries throughout the Country enrolled large numbers of young men who were preparing for the priesthood and brotherhood. Many Seminaries provided a full 13 year program of training (high school, college, novitiate and major Seminary). Our missionary order, the Society of the Divine Word, built and operated a number of such Seminaries throughout the United States. When vocations began to decrease in the 1960's, our Society consolidated many of these programs in central locations. St. Augustine was fortunate to be chosen as the site of our central novitiate for the entire United States, a very important part of the training of all our religious. During this same period some programs at St. Augustine's were transferred to other Seminaries.

The novitiate, our retirement program and the Retreat Center have been the core activities of St. Augustine's for many years now. We will continue all these important activities.

Watching this building being dismantled will indeed be sad for us, yet we will always treasure the memories and honor the work of our pioneering Divine Word Missionaries who founded St. Augustine's in 1922. They and we know that they built something more beautiful and more lasting than mere brick and mortar.

CAR FIRE—The remains of an occupant of a 1980 BMW are removed from the site where the vehicle burned one mile from the Kiln exit beside the eastbound lane of Interstate 10 at about 6:30 a.m. Tuesday. The investigation, headed by Glen Strong of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Robert Underwood of Mississippi Highway Patrol, continued Wednesday morning with an autopsy, County Medical Examiner Harold Stiglet said. Authorities are still trying to determine the identity of the victim, who was an adult male found in the back seat of the vehicle. Assisting at the scene were Diamondhead Fire Department Rescue and County Fire Marshall Jay Marsh, who said he has not yet determined the cause of the fire. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Welcoming the museum to Meridian will be John Griffing of the Meridian Chamber of Commerce, Tish Haas of the Lauderdale County Tourism Commission, the Jimmie Rodgers Foundation, the Meridian Main Street Program and the City of Meridian.

Waveland to participate in incentive program

By DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Board of Aldermen has agreed to participate in a Mississippi Power Company program designed to revitalize downtown business areas.

According to Mayor John Longo Jr., the program provides an incentive in the form of utility bill discounts to help attract tenants for vacant downtown buildings.

The aldermen unanimously agreed Tuesday to participate although there are not many vacant buildings along Coleman Avenue, Longo said.

"It would be nice to have all of them full," he commented.

In other business, the aldermen approved a recommendation from the city's zoning board.

The zoning board met Monday and agreed to correct an error in a zoning change for Keating's, an auto repair shop on Old Spanish Trail.

The board had originally zoned the property Industrial 2, which would have required a 60-foot sideyard, and changed the classification to a less restrictive Commercial 3 zoning.

Age and growth studies in in-shore waters in Florida.

—Age structure and growth rates of red drum landed in Alabama and Louisiana.

—Age validation of subadult and adult red drum in Florida.

Roundtable discussions among participants will follow each of the three aspects of the Cooperative Red Drum Research Plan.

The Seemap Red Drum Work Group will meet during the GSMFC Annual Spring Meeting to evaluate the scope of the State/Federal Cooperative Red Drum Research Program and review the preliminary results. Recommendations of the work group will be forwarded to the MARFIN Program Management Board for consideration of ongoing and future research funding.

Stock Assessment

Louisiana State University continues dockside data collection on red drum landed by commercial fishermen. Port samplers have conducted over 175 interviews of inshore gill netters, trammel netters and rod and reel fishermen since the program began. Over 2,000 individual length measurements have been collected and provided to the Coastal Fisheries Institute for analysis. In February largest catches of red drum were reported to have occurred around the mouth of the Mississippi River.

—Gil Bane and Sandie Russell

The NMFS Miami Laboratory reports that a new red drum analyst has joined the staff. Dr. C. Phillip (Phil) Goodyear transferred to the NMFS Miami Laboratory from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in February. One of Phil's major responsibilities will be analysis of stock status of red drum in the Gulf of Mexico. Phil has an international reputation as an expert in the field of fishery population dynamics. In recent years he has been the lead analyst for Fish and Wildlife Service in determination of stock status and the development of State/Federal management plans for Atlantic salmon and for striped bass on the East Coast.

—Walter R. Nelson

Louisiana State University is preparing results from a program to determine needed information for management of red drum resources in Louisiana waters. Data from the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries creel survey has been analyzed to provide seasonal and areal abundance and estimates of stock abundance. Currently, available length frequency data on red drum is being examined for patterns of mortality.

—Richard Condray

The Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources concluded the red drum tag shedding and tagging mortality experiment in mid-February. Over 90 adult red drum had been held in ponds at the Claude Petet Mariculture Center in Gulf Shores since October. These fish were tagged with internal anchor tags and dart tags and dart in a manner duplicating shipboard procedures utilized during the ongoing offshore tagging project of red drum. Data on tag loss rates will be provided to the NMFS Pascagoula Laboratory for incorporation in population estimates.

—Walter M. Tatum

Louisiana State University's Coastal Fisheries Institute Age and Growth Laboratory is analyzing age and growth data from purse seine and gill net-caught red drum landed in Louisiana. Samples represent collections made since November 1985, with the first year's work initiated through a Sea Grant project and subsequent collection and analysis supported through MARFIN funding.

In excess of 1,300 otolith samples have been sectioned and respective ages represented. Preliminary analyses of purse seine-caught red drum found a maximum age of 30 years, though the most abundant year classes represented were 12, 13 and 14-year-old fish. The abundance of 1975-1977 year classes in the purse seine data were noticeably low. Approximately 70 percent of fish collected ranged from 6-11 kg (13-24 lbs.). Age analysis will continue as additional otolith samples are made available from the NMFS offshore tagging project.

—Chuck Wilson and Dan Beckman

Stock Identification

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory during February gill and trammel net sampling trips tagged and released subadult red drum in four estuarine systems bordering the Mississippi Sound. In a program to examine migration patterns, red drum 300-400 mm TL are tagged with internal anchor tags and released. Preliminary sampling results indicate little movement of these fish from their respective bay systems. Plans are underway to develop population estimates for each of the four areas.

—Tom McIlwain

Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries reports a total of 1,075 juvenile red drum tagged in an ongoing statewide tagging program. In February with cooperation from commercial gill net fishermen, red drum from inshore waters, primarily between the Mississippi and Atchafalaya rivers, have been tagged with internal anchor tags and released. To date, 17 returns have been reported. Fishermen catching tagged red drum are asked to contact J. Shepard, Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries, P.O. Box 15870, Baton Rouge, LA 70805 or call (504) 242-2262.

—Joey Shepard

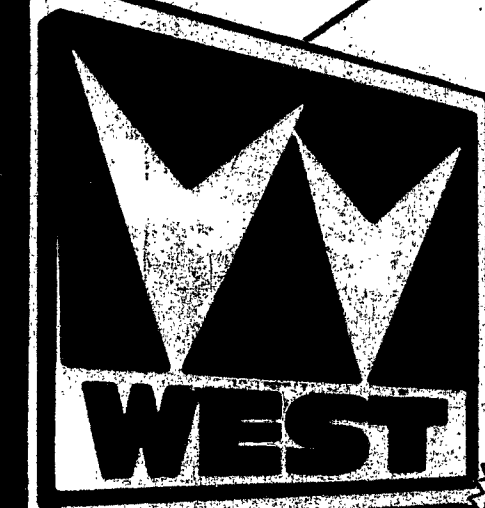

Age and Growth Studies

The Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources continues in its program to collect biological data from recreationally-landed red drum. Fish smaller than 400 mm will have otoliths removed and analyzed for size-at-age and length-at-age studies being con-

Phillips—a nationally recognized turkey-caller from Arkansas—will follow at 10:15 a.m. with a session on special turkey-hunting tactics.

Primos—author of an audio-taped demonstration of calling techniques—will take the stage at 1 p.m. to present "Successful Turkey Hunting with the Diaphragm Caller."

Morgan—well known for his natural wit—will take the stage at 2:15 p.m. to present, "Increase Your Turkey Population with Successful Land Management."

Street will head a 9-11 a.m. session for girls and boys 15 years and older. He will focus on scouting, calling and various turkey-hunting techniques.

The NMFS Mississippi Laboratories plans to begin the first 1987 aerial survey of red drum schools in the Gulf by early April. Data from the aerial siting of schools will be incorporated into population estimates.

—Scott Nichols

News and Notes

The Alabama Department of Conservation and Natural Resources will begin culture of red drum fry at the Claude Potest Mariculture Center in early April. Successful grow-out of the fry will produce taggable-size red drum by mid-July. Current plans are to release the tagged juveniles in Alabama's coastal waters.

—Walter M. Tatum
All researchers interested in age and growth determination of sciaenids, particularly red drum, are encouraged to attend a workshop planned for 9 a.m. Friday, March 13 at the Coastal Fisheries Institute Age and Growth Laboratory, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge.

The workshop will serve as a forum for participants to share techniques utilized in the age and growth studies of sciaenids. Included will be sampling methods, otolith preparation, validation, age estimation, analysis of age and growth data, use of a computerized image processing system for automated age estimation and related topics.

Participants currently involved with sciaenid age and growth research are invited to present a short summary of their current research activities.

St. Ann - St. John carnival krewe salutes the Irish

"The Luck of the Irish" was the theme on the evening of Saturday, Feb. 21 when St. Ann-St. John Carnival Association held its 13th annual Carnival: Bal Masque at American Legion Home in Waveland.

Reigning as king and queen of the evening's festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Crais of Bay St. Louis.

The tableau unfolded to reveal a setting of symbols that suggested the "Luck of the Irish" with Mrs. Bill (Won't you Come Home) Bailey calls and pleads with her husband, portrayed by Buddy Williams, who is having the time of his life at McGinty's Tavern with the "Ladies of the Night" - Pere Cabini, Mayola Rotherham, Lois Saucier, Dot Neubig, Velma Schmitt, Lou Hero, Irene Graff, Marian Traub, Lil Kenmore and Cheryl Colson.

Her majesty Queen Isabel, the fairest and most gracious colleen of all, made an enchanting picture in an imported French peach velvet gown heavily beaded with rhinestones, gold sequin braid and seed pearls.

Her elaborate a-line skirt flowing into a slight train was outlined with gold sequin braid.

The queen's medici collar of matching peach velvet was embedded with Austrian rhinestones and crystal beads. White fantasia plumes and long peach feathers completed the design.

A bejeweled silver tiara, matching sceptre and long white gloves completed her attire.

Serving as page to her Royal Highness was Jennifer Lynn Thomas, daughter of Doanld Keith Thomas and Charlotte Thomas.

His majesty King Bob, carrying a large silver goblet, greeted his subjects wearing a tunic-styled costume of imported French peach velvet designed with court sleeves.

Accenting his tunic was a gold belt solidly set in Aurora stones. A golden lace collar encrusted with glittering stones added highlights to the full train of imported gold velvet heavily bordered in gold sequins and rhinestones.

White boots, bejeweled silver sceptre and crown adorned with peach and white plumes matching the queen's completed his costume.

From the only inland county in Munster, situated in the Golden Vale, where the river Shannon flows and the Galty Mountains stand high, comes an Irish Merchant stopping to see his old pal McGinty and refresh himself.

The entrance of the Captain, James B. Davis Sr., portraying the Irish Merchant, opened the grand Bal Masque in an elaborate costume of purple, green and yellow.

His hip length cape of golden cloth featured heavily sequined green four cleaf clovers. An exaggerated top hat sprinkled with silver and green sequins completed his attire.

Master of Ceremonies Monroe James introduced members of the royal court who were escorted by carnival association president Virginia Thomas, vice-president Theresa James, and grand marshals Louis Foret and Floyd Breaux.

Majors in the royal court wearing magnificently and individually styled gowns were Mickey Revere depicting "A Happy Irish Heart" escorted by Bob Revere; Gloria Moran portraying "Smiling Irish Eyes" escorted by Tim Moran; "Wild Irish Rose" depicted by Gwen Blackledge escorted by Mark Blackledge; "A Four Leaf Clover" portrayed by Helen Rohrbacker escorted by Lawrence Freeman; "An Irish Lullaby" as depicted by Beverly Mahe escorted by Al Mahe; and the ever-present "Irish Mist" portrayed by Shirley Williams escorted by Bob McClure.

Having been greeted by their loyal subjects, their majesties commanded that the royal entertainment begin.

The royal court and guests were entertained by Our Friends from Waveland, the enchanting, frolic "Leprechauns" who apparently were caught up in the Mardi Gras spirit and threw "favors."

The group included Alice and Gilbert Brechtel Jr., Dottie and Earl Barkemeyer, Jennie and Bob Ortis, Claire and Talmadge Conway, Asa and Gilbert Brechtel Sr., Beverly Coogan, Joseph Cuccia, Anna Mae Roppolo and Margaret Heitzmann.

Entertainment was also provided by "Our Friends from Louisiana" who joined in the merriment by staging a traditional St. Patrick's Day Parade.

Those participating were Jim Davis Jr., Daniel David, Beverly Davis, Darren Davis, Alma Davis Benoit, Yvette Davis, Gene Lupo, Irma Lupo, Mike Abadie, Jeanne Abadie, Julie Bradbury, Keith Bradbury and Vincent Granier.

Immediately following the entertainment their royal majesties commanded the captain to present their royal guests, the 1986 retiring king and queen, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mauffray.

As a prelude to the finale following the grand march - once again the "Luck of the Irish" is evident as Conrad Mauffray, Al Mahe and Bill Kirchem gave their rendition of "An Irish Lullaby."

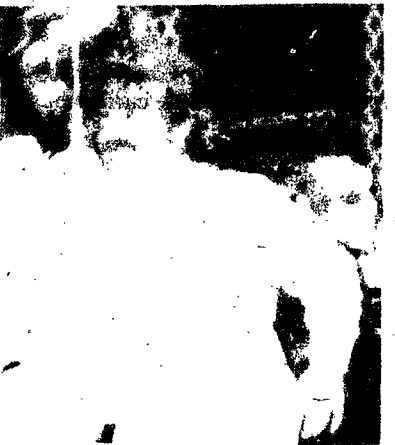

The gaiety, color and frivolity of the "Luck of the Irish" was reflected in the music of the Dixieland Saints who also provided music for general dancing.

The evening of fantasy ended when the captain signaled the close of the tableau with his whistle.

Other committee chairpersons contributing to the success of the ball included Tableau coordinator - Rita Davis; Assistant to Royalty Eunice Foret and Jim Davis Jr.; Lighting, Jay Marsh and Alvin Ladner Jr.; Script, the Captain; Refreshments, Joseph Levy; Door Committee, Shirley Cox.

Special thanks to Louisiana Graphics, Bob and Alison Robertson; and Unique Shop, Lois Saucier and Delores Johnston.

The ball was dedicated to the memory of the krewe's late treasurer Juliette Ladner.

Golden Eagle baseball mixes academics and athletics

With a 60-game schedule, including 27 road contests, one would think the Golden Eagle baseball squad would spend more time on the diamond than in the classroom; but according to USM head coach Hill Denson, that's just not the case.

"We have many fans and professors who want to know how a baseball player can make his grades when he is on the road so much during the season," states Denson. "But it is a proven fact that an athlete makes better grades during the season he is participating in his sport than in the off season. We have records to back this up."

It takes a strong effort from every college student to see that he or she gets in enough study time, but for an athlete it takes an extra special effort to make sure all classroom responsibilities are met.

"Our guys take their books and assignments with them when we go on the road. They find time to study on the bus or vans when we are traveling. A lot of them do their studying in the motel rooms, on away games," continued the fourth year head coach. "We put our schedule on paper and it shows that we will miss only three partial days during the entire season. We arrange our schedule so that players can at least attend first period classes."

Altogether, the team will miss one complete day of classes, two missed class periods on the Monday-Wednesday-Friday classes and three periods on the Tuesday-Thursday-Friday classes, not a bad record when you consider the baseball schedule runs from early February to late May.

Denson is also proud of the fact that eight of his players made the prestigious Metro Conference Commissioner's List last season. A 3.0 grade average is required to be named to the list.

Because Denson and his staff consider their scheduling with the students in mind, they can provide the team with plenty of opportunities to grow academically.

"We play a lot of games on weekends and during spring break. Also when we know we have a scheduled road trip, we will not leave until after noon on Fridays, so the players can attend all their classes," said the USM mentor.

"We really want our fans and professors to know this. We are proud of our players and the fact that they are given every opportunity from the baseball team to perform well in the classroom," exclaimed Denson.

GCRL receives grant for spawning ecology study

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs will receive $68,171 during 1987 to provide fisheries independent data on spawning ecology and early life history for coastal herrings, carangids (jacks), and king and Spanish mackerel stocks in the Gulf of Mexico.

The study will be conducted cooperatively by Dr. Joanne Lyczkowski-Shultz of GCRL with Dr. Richard F. Shaw of Louisiana State University, Coastal Fisheries Institute.

GCRL will receive $45,626 from the National Marine Fisheries Service through the Marine Fisheries Initiative (MARFIN) program and $22,545 in-kind support for this research effort.

Information on the abundance and distribution of the young stages of marine fishes can be used to plot the whereabouts of adult populations especially those for which no commercial fishery exists.

These kinds of data can also provide approximate estimates of the actual numbers of adults, the fishable stage, present in local waters.

National and regional fishery management agencies have identified these data, i.e., on the early life stages, to be of critical and immediate importance in developing new fisheries on coastal herrings, carangids, and in the timely resolution of user conflicts over currently exploited stocks of king and Spanish mackerel.

In the first year of the proposed three-year study Dr. Lyczkowski-Shultz will utilize sample collections taken during her past Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium funded redfish project which generated unique and valuable collections of relatively rare king and Spanish mackerel larvae from 1983-85.

In subsequent years the project will focus on collections taken from Gulf-wide research cruises in 1984-86 under the auspices of the Southeast Area Monitoring and Assessment Program (SEAMAP), a state/federal/university program for collection, management, and dissemination of fishery independent data and information in the U.S. Gulf of Mexico.

Local youth earns Quarter Horse High-Point award

Kinta Ann Ladner of Bay St. Louis and her 1978 sorrel gelding RENOS BOY have been awarded the 1986 Youth High-Point Stake Racing title by the American Quarter Horse Association.

The duo earned 18 points to win the award, which goes to the exhibitor and horse winning the most points in an event during 1986 AQHA youth show competition.

High-point trophies will be presented at the 48th Annual AQHA Convention Awards Banquet on March 10 in Orlando, Fla. More than 600 Quarter Horse enthusiasts from the United States and several foreign countries will be in attendance.

AQHA, the world's largest equine breed registry, claims more than 149,000 members in the United States and 62 foreign countries. AQHA offers open, amateur and youth competition.

AQHA's youth division, the American Junior Quarter Horse Association, is the largest organization of its kind. Total youth membership (only youth 18 and under qualify) topped 8,700 in 1986, and there were more than 230,000 entries at 2,496 shows offering youth competition.

Coaches clinic and officials conference set in Natchez

Friday, May 15th and Saturday, May 16th are the dates for the 7th Annual Southwest Coaches and Officials Conference in Natchez. Coach Rocky Felker, head coach at Mississippi State University and his staff will conduct the Coaches Clinic.

Paul Schmitt, president of the Southern Independent Collegiate Officials Association and Gordon Petrus, supervisor of officials for the Southeastern Conference will be on hand to help with the Officials Clinic.

College coaches from some 30 Universities will be on hand and high school coaches from some 60 schools in Mississippi and Louisiana, both public and private, will be in attendance. Over 100 High school officials will also attend the conference.

SWCOC was organized in 1981 for the purpose of improving officiating at the high school level, improving communication between coaches and officials and to promote good will between high school coaches and college recruiters.

Two new directors have been added to the SWCOC Board this year. Clyde Messenger, a veteran official in the State of Louisiana and a rule interpreter for the state has been added. Jack Vaughan, a veteran NFL official from Ponchatoula has also agreed to serve.

A golf tournament will take place on Friday afternoon at Duncan Park for conference participants and invited guests. Tennis courts will be available for those wishing to play.

On Friday night, the group will socialize and eat catfish at the Liberty Park Pavilion.

Saturday morning, coaches and officials get down to work with an officials clinic and a separate coaches clinic.

Rule changes for both high school and college will be covered in detail and officials will be coached on in-field mechanics by NFL and college officials.

The Southwest Coaches and Officials Conference was organized in 1981 by Andy Pressgrove, a veteran high school and college official.

Stanislaus students named national merit finalists

Brother Paul Montero, principal of St. Stanislaus High School, has announced that David Bourgeois, Scott Comeaux, and Joel Thames have been named as national merit finalists for the 1987-88 school session.

Merit finalists are among the highest scorers in each state on the

DAVID BOURGEOIS

1986 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the National Merit Scholarship Test (PSAT/NMSQT) which was administered to over one million students throughout the United States.

The finalists are distinguished as a select group who represents fewer than half of one percent of American high school seniors.

Bourgeois, the son of Mrs. Marcia Engelman of Bay St. Louis and Mr. Mike Bourgeois of Maplewood, New Jersey, is presently in his fifth year at St. Stanislaus.

He is a member of the National Honor Society and the French Honor Society; and he is captain of the math and science team. He recently finished first in the state in mathematics at the State Math and Science Tournament; and he finished in the top 1 percent in physics at the Mississippi State University Physics Competition.

He is an alpha honor roll student and a member of the President's Honor Roll with a perfect 4.0 average; and he is a member of the varsity tennis team. Bourgeois plans to study engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Comeaux, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Comeaux of Bay St. Louis, is presently in his sixth year at St. Stanislaus; and he is an alpha honor roll student. He is a member of the national honor society, the French honor society, the drama club and the yearbook staff.

He participates in intramural soccer, basketball and tennis; he is a member of the varsity tennis team and the St. Stanislaus weightlifting club; and he is a varsity cheerleader.

He has received the St. Stanislaus Drama Award, and in the eighth grade he earned the American Legion Award. Comeaux would like to study business administration at Notre Dame University.

Thames is the son of Mrs. Sally Harrison of Bay St. Louis and Mr. Jon Thames of Columbia, South Carolina; and he is presently in his fifth year at St. Stanislaus.

He is a member of the national honor society, the Spanish honor society, and the math and science team.

He has participated in intramural football, soccer and softball; and he is a member of the St. Stanislaus weightlifting club. He is an eagle scout, and he was class president in both his freshman and junior year of high school.

He scored in the top 4 percent in physics at the Mississippi State University Physics Competition, and he was in the top 10 percent in physics at the State Science and Mathematics Tournament. Thames, an alpha honor roll student, plans to study engineering at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

TOURNAMENT PARTICIPANTS—These students from Our Lady Academy in Bay St. Louis participated in the 13th annual Mississippi Science and Mathematics Tournament held at Mississippi College Feb. 5-6. The tournament, sponsored by the Mississippi College Departments of Science and Mathematics, recognized

LIFE'S LITTLE UPS AND DOWNS

Do your children tell you everything? If they have taken a spill, fallen off a bike, or injured themselves playing football, you may be the last to know. That's why it's important to give your children a Chiropractic Checkup regularly. Many times, untreated childhood accidents turn into spinal distortions that may not show up for months or years. Parents never really know how many little bumps, knocks, and falls their children have had. Why take a chance? Bring your family in for a Chiropractic Checkup. CALL TODAY!

Math competition for juniors held at NSTL

Over 500 junior high students will be answering math stumbers like this in the 4th annual MATH-COUNTS competition being held this week in nine regional competitions throughout Mississippi.

These students have already participated in school competitions and have won out over 7000 students in 133 schools.

MATHCOUNTS, which is sponsored nationally by the National Society of Professional Engineers and in the state by the Mississippi
Engineering Society, is a program designed to stimulate mathematics at the junior high level and give your "mathletes" a chance to compete locally, statewide and nationally.

Winners of the regional competitions progress to a state competition in April and the top math stars in Mississippi will compete against other stars from all 50 states in Washington, D.C. in May.

The regional competition in this area will be held at NSTL on Feb. 23.
Schools entered include Pass
Christian, d'Therville, Picaune, St.
Stanislaus, Ocean Springs,
Vandewee, Long Beach, Our Lady
Academy, Pascagoula, St. Martin,
Coast Episcopal, Bay, Carriere,
Charles Murphy, Stone and Poplar-ville.

In addition to the Mississippi
Engineering Society, MATHCOUNTS is sponsored in Mississippi by the Mississippi Power Foundation.

Teen parenting classes set

Catholic Social and Community Services will be sponsoring a Teen Parenting groups for young mothers and those about to be.

Some topics of discussion will be infant and child development, three generation living, and discipline. It will also discuss any concerns the mothers may have. In general, it can be a good support and growth group in which teen mothers can share in the difficulties of being a teen parent.

One group will be held on six consecutive Thursday evenings 7 - 8 p.m. starting March 5, 1997.

For more information, contact
Brenda Stiles, MS Maternity
Caseworker, at 374-6316.
